From the Pastor

January 2018

Winter is often a season of reflection for me. The pace of December slows down dramatically. Unpredicted snow days offer the opportunity to catch up on my reading. Reminders of life's slippery nature provide frequent moments for prayer.

It is a time for deepening our spiritual life. In the Epiphany light that follows Christmas, I hope you make the most of the quiet, engaging in whatever practices will nourish your soul and sustain your spirit. There is light to be found in the shadows of January.

As nature prepares to nestle down for a long winter's nap, my heart turns to poetry, that condensed habit of communicating deep wisdom through a few words. Here are two post-Christmas poems by Madeleine L'Engle which are percolating up in my imagination:

The glory

Without any rhyme
Without any reason
My heart lifts to light
In this bleak season

Believer and wanderer
Caught by salvation
Stumbler and blunderer
Into Creation

In this cold blight
Where marrow is frozen
It is God's time
My heart has chosen

In paradox and story
Parable and laughter
Find I the glory
Here in hereafter

With you in the journey,

Rev. Bill

Into the darkest hour

It was a time like this,
War and tumult of war,
A horror in the air.
Hungry yawned the abyss –
And yet there came the star
And the child most wonderfully there.

It was a time like this
Of fear and lust for power,
License and greed and blight –
And yet the Prince of bliss
Came into the darkest hour
In quiet and silent light.

And in a time like this
How celebrate his birth
When all things fall apart?
Ah! Wonderful it is
With no room on the earth
The stable is our heart.

PRESBYTERIAN WOMEN CIRCLE BIBLE STUDIES

Mary Ellen Lawlor

Maybe one of your new goals for 2018 is to spend more time reading and studying God's Word.

Our Bible Study in Hebrews can help you achieve that goal. We meet the 3rd Tuesday of each month at the church. The Dorcas and Priscilla Circles meet together at 10:00 a.m. and the Eunice Circle meets at 7:00 p.m. on January 16.

All women are invited. We have studied about four foundation stones for our Wall of Faith and Cloud of Witnesses— Jesus Christ, the Living God, the Living Word and God's Messengers, the Angels.

Our lesson for January by Melissa Sevier will be In Community with the Tradition of the Past. "We will examine the tradition from which Hebrews draws and our own faith tradition. We don't exist to serve the past but we do learn from it, its successes and its errors; it informs our present and our future." We look forward to starting the New Year studying God's Word together.

Pillars of the Earth

by Ken Follett

A radical departure from Follett's novels of international suspense and intrigue, this chronicles the vicissitudes of a prior, his master builder, and their community as they struggle to build a cathedral and protect themselves during the tumultuous 12th century when the empress Maud and Stephen are fighting for the crown of England after the death of Henry I. The plot is less tightly controlled than those in Follett's contemporary works, and despite the wealth of historical detail, especially concerning architecture and construction, much of the language as well as the psychology of the characters and their relationships remains firmly rooted in the 20th century. This will appeal more to lovers of exciting adventure stories than true devotees of historical fiction.

We will meet on January 25, 7:00 p.m., at Nancy London's home.

Check Out The Library!

Amanda Roberts

Or, better yet, check out a book from the library!

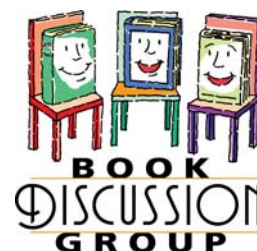

I know, many of you may think that "books" are something that come through an app on your phone or tablet. But for those of you who value the feeling of holding a printed hard copy, we still have some.

It's an interesting collection at that - some old, some new, maybe something of interest to you.

We've created a few new categories, rearranged others, and made some signs to help you find what you're looking for.

So check it out - and check out a book!

Light bulbs are no longer being accepted for recycling at First Presbyterian Church. Bulbs can be recycled at Lowe's in Dickson City.
